Dinner, auction raises money for Awaso

Cathy Westman Western Review
This guest was lucky enough to be upgraded to the Queen's Table at the start of the Awaso Canadian Academy Foundation dinner and auction held May 23 at the MacKenzie Centre in Drayton Valley. Sometime during the evening, he and another guest at the table decided to change their crowns into a shell's head dress using one of woven leaves to hold his dinner napkin in place. These guests were treated to drink tickets, champagne, first in line at the buffet table, gifts and jewellery during the evening. The winning bid for this treat was $3,500. Community raises funds for Awaso addition

Cathy Weetman
Western Review

Music, bidding, a sumptuous banquet, a few speeches, more bidding and entertainment made up the eighth annual Awaso Canadian Academy Foundation dinner and auction at the Mackenzie Centre on May 22.

The evening began with a relatively new event called Auctioning of the Queen's Table, which enabled the highest bidder(s) to experience a royal treatment. This treatment included being the first to eat at the buffet catered by Cobbe-stone Cafe, crowns and jewellery to wear, gifts to take home, free drink tickets, two bottles of champagne and people to cater to their every whim. Auctioneer Kevin Kjortsen orchestrated the bidding, and also ended up as one of eight guests at the Queen's table when the bidding finished with a final bid of $3,500.

With that out of the way, MC Sandra Barnard welcomed guests and dignitaries and acknowledged Suzin Shaw and Sarah Naugle, who provided musical entertainment for the evening.

Art Frey, one of the Foundation members, gave a brief update as to new construction at the school in Awaso, Ghana. When the school was first built and completed in 2011, construction costs were approximately $100 per square foot. With a new addition of three classrooms for junior high students, washrooms and a staff room, construction costs have now dropped to $40 to $45 a square foot. On the down side, however, the cost of construction materials have gone up, Frey added. As a result, during the evening, guests were given an opportunity to purchase a square foot of the new addition for $40 to help with costs.

Sponsorship of students attending Awaso School was also spoken about. As of September, 2015, the school had 249 students enrolled, and each year a classroom of 32 students is added. The sponsorship program covers the costs of opening the school and feeding the students two meals per day. Individuals or businesses can sponsor a student for $400.00 per year or $35.00 a month, which covers two thirds of the cost for a student to attend the school for one year. The sponsorship is also tax deductible.

One sponsor who was acknowledged during the evening was Drew Cropley, a Grade 3 student at St. Anthony's School. She sponsored a student who is currently in Grade 2 at Awaso School. With the help of teacher Carmine Thomson, Drew explained that before Christmas she asked Santa to bring her a child to sponsor instead of getting new toys because she had enough already. Thomson stated, "There always a good example to all of us that needs are more important than wants."

Next, committee member Wynne Current introduced the keynote speaker and founder of the Awaso School, Father Paul Mensa. He described Father Paul as beginning life as the youngest of seven children in Awaso. He was ordained as a priest in 1980 and was assigned to Halifax, but arrived in Drayton Valley. He remained in Drayton Valley for one year before leaving for San Jose, California for health reasons, and to finish his education.

Current noted that every time Father Paul came back to Drayton Valley for a visit, he would talk about the plight of the children in his home town. Finally, in 2005 the Awaso Canadian Academy Foundation was established and became a registered charity whose purpose was to build a modern, first-class school in Awaso.

"Father Paul is such a dedicated, hard-working man," said Current, before bidding him up to the microphone.

"I thank you all very much. You are certainly in our Awaso family," said Father Paul. He then went on to describe what life in Awaso is like. Awaso is a small town with a population between 5,000 and 6,000 people and the main industry is banana and aluminum processing.

"One of the things that is so obvious is the young people

They couldn't cross the bridge between junior high and senior high school," he said, adding that about 60 per cent of senior high aged students were walking the streets, some selling fruit and other produce.

"Eight or nine years ago, we had a conversation and an elementary school was built. It had 12 rooms, nine classrooms and three rooms for administration. Five years ago we had 106 students. Now we have 242. We take children (for the school) from poor families and homes and provide them with food and education. We don't screen them. We don't enroll them based on faith or gender. We provide these kids with breakfast and lunch so they can have a better future," said Father Paul.

The children have also taken pride in their surroundings and are often seen sweeping the streets with their brooms. Father Paul added the school has cleared a section of land and planted 1,000 corn seeds and have created a market garden which goes to help feed the students. A well was dug for the school last year, and this year an irrigation system is being added. The school's farm wagon has a sign on the back of it that proudly states, "We eat what we grow." Parents of the students also help out with the farm as their contribution to the school.

"We are breaking the cycle of poverty through education. Even now we are changing lives. We are so grateful that we have you as our support. I'd like to thank the dream team, the board members for their giving spirit. You are part of the change. We are so grateful for the Drayton Valley community and foundation," he concluded.

The remainder of the evening called for fast and furious bidding on a selection of live auction items, silent auction items, raffles for various items, 50/50 draws and an event called "Running of the Bow" (not bulls). Auctioneer Kevin Kjortsen was in his prime coaxing bidders to pay top dollar for the live auction items. The first of these was a large, comfy hand-crafted sunnarak rocking chair and stool, built and donated by Ed Kuzal, which went for a top bid of $2,100.

The second item was a dinner for eight people prepared and served by Cobbe-stone Cafe, donated by Art and Betty Frey. The lucky recipient of this treat bid $2,200. Item number three was an eight by 12 foot shed, built and donated by Floyd Kijpshild that sold for $1,500. The fifth item was a painting by Edna Bonetti, who lost her fight with cancer in January.

Cathy Weetman Western Review

Cathy Weetman Western Review
Drayton Valley Horse Club President Darcy Erickson is about to leave for the afternoon session of the Trail Ride for Cancer held May 24.

Awaso dinner, auction

Before she died she did a painting, called Edna's Poppy Picture, which she donated to the auction as she does every year. It sold for $2,500. The last of the first six items of the night were two tickets to the Broadway musical, "The Lion King," to be held in Edmonton on August 8, and one night at the Vancoula Hotel on Whyte Avenue in Edmonton, which includes breakfast. This item was donated by Arlene Reid and the top bid was $900.

The second group of items included a Calgary Stampede 100th Anniversary limited edition belt buckle, donated by Kevin Kjollien, two tickets to the 2015 Wrangler National Finals Rodeo in Las Vegas, Nevada, donated by Art and Betty Frey, bid on a balloon to win a three piece set of luggage, a chocolate diamond ring and a picnic table.

Committee members of the Awaso Canadian Academy Foundation are Art and Betty Frey, Ray and Darlene Braufert, Christa Unger, Floyd and Pat Knipplshild, Ed Hartzel, Lord Winship, Wayne and Yolande Current, Toni and Denis Lord, Wayne McKinnon, Bruce and Carmela Thomson, Muriel Hartley and Lorraine Johnson.

Mother Nature was smiling down on Drayton Valley and Brazeau County over the May 23 weekend when several different fundraisers were held both indoors and out.

One of these events was the 25th annual Trail Ride for Cancer which took place on May 24 with 80 registered riders who collectively raised a total of $13,008. Proceeds from the ride will go toward the cancer unit at the Drayton Valley Health Centre.

Youngest participant was nine-year-old Tashlyn Huntley while the oldest rider was 84-year-old Ed Lauer, both of whom are from Drayton Valley, and the oldest horse on the ride was 28. The rider who came the furthest was from Inisfail.

Some participants took in the morning trail ride and after a rest, took part in the afternoon ride as well.

"Everybody had a good time," said Drayton Valley Horse Club President Darcy Erickson.

Notley's government sworn in May 24

Special to the Western Review

A new chapter in the story of Alberta Alberta's 17th Premier, the Honourable Rachel Notley, and her Cabinet, were sworn in on the steps of the Alberta Legislature on May 24.

Albertans have chosen a strong, stable majority government that will put the priorities of Albertans first – a government that shares in the very same values that built this province and our prosperity.

"Today we open a new chapter in the story of Alberta. From our earliest days, Albertans have worked as hard as anyone to forge a brighter future. People from all walks of life and from every part of the world, have joined together on a common journey. And on that journey, we've been guided by enduring values. Albertans are hard-working. We are entrepreneurial. And we are relentlessly optimistic. We believe that tomorrow can be a better day. And that we must work hard to make it happen. That's who we are as Albertans," said Rachel Notley, Premier.

The new Cabinet is lean and efficient, and is firmly focused on solving the challenges that face Alberta. The newly sworn-in Ministers will partner with Albertans' job creators – in energy, forestry, agriculture, high-tech, tourism and small business – to grow and diversify our economy. The new Cabinet will focus on the priorities of Albertans:

- to give our children the best chance to succeed and get the right start to school;
- to protect and strengthen public health care, so it's there when families need it;
- to restore trust and integrity in government – a government that belongs to Albertans; and
- to help build a more prosperous, a more caring, and a more hopeful province for every Albertan.

"On this historic day, we are, once again, joining together in pursuit of our common dream – the same dream that has inspired generations of Albertans. It's a dream founded on the ideas that change is possible – and that a better future awaits. It is springtime in Alberta, and a fresh wind is blowing. To harness its potential, the hard work begins today," added Notley.

Do your bit for the environment with a travel gift

News Canada

Canadian Environment Week in June focuses on our individual efforts to be as responsible as possible with our treatment of the air, land, and waterways. If you are strapped for time, ideas, and cash to make a contribution, did you know that people are donating Aeroplan reward miles to environmental causes? The Beyond Miles Initiative in the program is an opportunity for Aeroplan members to turn their miles into support of a favourite charity as it travels to do its good work. This year, the David Suzuki Foundation has become a Beyond Miles partner. The foundation works with Canadians across the country to safeguard our right to clean water, fresh air and healthy food. Receiving donated miles helps keep those efforts on target. Take a look at www.aeroplan.com/donate where there are many opportunities to donate to different charities. Other environmental causes include Oceans Initiative, which protects marine life; TD Friends of the Environment, an organization that finds projects across Canada; and Earth Day Canada, a national environmental charity. www.newscanada.com

Brazeau Gymnastics Club bring home five gold, two silver

Cathy Weisman
Western Review

Brazeau Gymnastics Club attended their first meet on May 24 with spectacular results. Dynamic Gym Club in St. Albert hosted the Lasso Invitational meet, which was sanctioned by the Alberta Gymnastic Federation. There were eight other clubs competing against the local girls.

The seven gymnasts collectively took home five gold and two silver medals. Results are as follows:

Argo Division gymnast Taylor Smith won Gold on Vault, Uneven Bars, Beam and Floor Exercise and Received Gold All Around.

Tyvo Division gymnast Jennelle Russell won Gold in Vault, Bars and Floor; Silver on Beam and received Gold All Around.

Argo Katie Carpenter earned Gold on Vault and Beam; Silver on Bars and Floor and won a Gold All Around.

Argo Katelyn Burghardt took Gold on Vault, Bars, Beam; Silver on Floor and Gold All Around.

Kyandra Zamp earned Gold on Vault, Beam, Floor; Silver on Bars and won Gold All Around.

Argo Brooklyn Bills won Silver on Vault, Bars, Beam and Floor and captured a Silver All Around.

Tyvo Desha Stafford earned Gold on Vault and Bars and Silver on Beam and Floor, and won Silver All Around.

All the gymnasts received certificates with ribbons depicting which event they participated in, as well as medals to take home. Since it was a Hawaiian-themed meet, all the participants had an opportunity to dress up as well.

Coaches Jo Stuckenborg and Arja Stuckenborg have been helping train the participants for the past two months, with the assistance of coach Jennifer Howse for floor work.

"I'm very pleased with how hard the girls worked, and I think the results are a direct result of how hard the girls worked in the gym. The girls did really well and had a blast. It was a really good learning experience for them. They had to follow rules and protocols and they did it so well, they got comments from parents watching the meet about how well behaved they were," said Stuckenborg.

She added that all of the competitors were hand-picked by her, Freake and Meghan Jeffrey based on body type, attitude, a willingness to learn and take direction and the courage to fall and get up and try again.

"We're registering for summer camps on June 17 at the Whiskey Hall from 4 to 7 p.m. and there will be an Annual General Meeting coming up on June 3, beginning at 7:30 p.m.," added Stuckenborg.

our editorial Please be patient

We're the new kids on the block, so to speak. Well, at least two-thirds of us are in the editorial department.

As we've mentioned before, the Western Review has undergone some changes over the past few months, including new ownership and a change of staff, both of whom are new to the area, and we still get lost while driving to assignments.

Basically, we are starting out with a clean slate. We don't know anything about past rivalries between cultural and recreational organizations, businesses, schools and the like. Sometimes, we don't even know who to call to obtain more information for a news article.

That being said, because of the newness of our team, we are bound to make mistakes with names and organizations when receiving photographs without names, organizations and contact numbers on them. So in order to make the Western Review an even better paper, we're asking our readers to submit their photographs with the first and last names of each person in the photographs, from left to right, and the organizations they represent, and if possible a name and contact number for more information.

As far as we know, a newspaper is the only business where our mistakes are glaringly obvious. The only thing we can do in most cases is to apologize to the wronged party, make amends as best we can and try to do better the next week.

After all, nobody's perfect, right?

Corrections

With regard to the Provincial court story that appeared in the May 19 edition of the Western Review, the name of the man charged with uttering threats to Tim Thomson, not Timson, as was written in the article. We apologize for the error and any inconvenience this may have caused.

Also, a photograph of a dance group performing onstage during a competition, was wrongly attributed to Guelph Ballet. In fact, the group were from Miss Jeanne's School of Dance. We regret the error and apologize for any embarrassment or inconvenience this may have caused. We will be running profiles on each of these dance schools in a future edition of the Western Review.

Thanks for looking after me

Growing up in a Catholic family and going to an all-girls Catholic school for a couple of years when I was little, and again to a Catholic university before I moved to Canada, I can say that I was a religious person.

Take note, I said "was". In the Philippines, eight out of 10 Filipinos are Catholic. At least, that is what I found in my research. When I moved to Canada, I met so many people with different beliefs. I also took some classes at the University of Calgary, where my professor opened my mind to different ideologies. My belief was greatly tested. It was a difficult time for me because it made me question what I believed in. I have a lot of friends with different religious backgrounds, while some did not belong to any and I respect all of them. But eventually, I found myself becoming less and less religious. It has been five years since I last went to church. I do not pray the rosary anymore or observe religious traditions like Holy Week. I still, however, believe that there is a higher being or a God for lack of a better term. And I still pray. I pray when I have something to be grateful for. I pray when I am feeling down. I do still find myself praying but to what I do not know. I am praying to something or someone greater than all of us. I just do not belong in any religion anymore.

Justine Kimodan

Why am I talking about this? Well, a few weeks ago, I was so stressed about everything in life but mostly financially. A lot of things happened that required me to take all of my money from my savings and even that was not enough. I did not know what to do or where to get more money. And then something happened. My roommate introduced me to someone and he basically gave me a part-time job right then and there. Two days after, I went home to Calgary, and I opened my mail and I found my income tax return. It was a pleasant surprise. I felt relieved. I could not believe this was happening all at a time when I needed it the most. To be honest, I was not expecting my prayer to be answered because I did not belong in any religion, but they were answered. There really is someone up there looking after me.

Vandal-moronism

It is not to know that a "Shaggy" lives among us. Mindless vandalism will always be something that puzzles and disturbs almost all people in our society.

However this particular act of vandalism at the corner of 50th and 50th, in Drayton Valley, seems to be somewhat of an enigma. Year through acts of senseless vandalism, undoubtedly by motorists trying to prove they are only idiots. Little very they would get no arguments from me. A picture's worth a thousand words, need I say more?

Canada 150 Community Infrastructure Program

The new Canada 150 Community Infrastructure Program will provide significant support for existing community and cultural infrastructure across the country as a way to celebrate Canada's 150th anniversary of Confederation.

This program will provide support for the renovation, expansion, and rehabilitation of existing infrastructure that provides community and cultural benefits for the public. Projects under the following categories may be eligible for funding: community centres (including Royal Canadian Legions), cultural centres and museums, parks, recreational trails, libraries, recreational facilities, touristic facilities, docks, canals and other existing community infrastructure.

The program, anticipated to support up to

Jim Eglinski
MP - Yellowhead

1,800 projects in communities of all sizes across the country, will be delivered nationally through the Government of Canada's regional economic development agencies. Eligible recipients for funding include provinces, territories, municipalities, regional governments, Aboriginal organizations, and not-for-profit organizations. Applicants can submit their application online through their respective regional economic development agency at: www.wd-do.gc.ca/eng/18872.asp

"I am pleased that our Government will be supporting a significant number of projects in communities across Canada to celebrate Canada's 150th anniversary of Confederation," said Jim Eglinski, Member of Parliament for Yellowhead. "I encourage all who meet the qualifications to apply for funding through this program."

Selected projects are expected to be completed by the end of the 2017 construction season to best support Canada 150 celebrations. Projects that will be supported by the program will be chosen based on assessment criteria including construction-readiness, the extent to which funding is leveraged from other sources, and linkages to Canada 150.

The deadline for the Canada 150 Community Infrastructure Program is June 17, 2015.

April 16 mobile home fire affects neighbour's home

Cathy Weetman
Western Review

The April 16th mobile home fire in Drayton Valley that killed its occupant also devastated the life of his next door neighbour, whose mobile home was declared uninhabitable following the fire.

According to resident Frank Olsen, the heat from the fire was so intense, it burned down his trees, blew out the living room window and set fire to the curtains. In turn, they ignited the walls and ceiling of his living room and melted the plastic strips separating the ceiling panels in the kitchen.

Olsen said insurance adjusters inspected his home recently and told him it's too badly damaged by fire, smoke and water that it's to be towed away after the contents are cleared out. One porch has already been removed and a second porch was to be pulled down on May 25. On top of that, Olsen added his insurance company told him he may be required to pay for damages. This news came as another blow to Olsen, whose father died, followed by the death of his horse and lastly his dog a month before the fire.

"I wasn't home when the first fire broke out. I saw the smoke and thought that it was pretty close to my home," said Olsen, who lived in the mobile home since 1975 with his parents. For the past few years, he's been living there by himself.

Since the fire, Olsen has been staying with friend and co-worker, Jerry Goertzen at his residence outside of Drayton Valley. The pair have both been busy since the fire, cleaning out the contents inside and underneath the home, where his mother had stored jars of canned fruit and other preserves.

Olsen added he's not sure when the home will be towed off the site.

RCMP tries to identify a mystery caller

Justine Kimodan

did not find the male following his curfew and the male will be charged.

RCMP received approximately eight 911 calls from an unknown number. After searching for a location as to where the calls are coming from, RCMP found out it was coming from a field out on Valley Grove. It is still under investigation as RCMP suspects it is a phone line issue.

CURFEW CHECK
RCMP conducted a curfew check on a local male on May 22 at approximately 4 a.m. RCMP

SUSPICIOUS GUEST

Numerous calls were received by RCMP regarding suspicious males in town. One in particular was a suspicious alarm salesman knocking on someone's door on Range Road 91 at 9:30 p.m. It was found out that the male is a legitimate salesman.

UNKNOWN ADDRESSES
RCMP found numerous residences armed with alarms have incorrect addresses associated with it. RCMP advises that anyone who has alarms installed in their residences to make sure the address associated with it is correct.

STOLEN VEHICLES

On May 23 at 9 a.m., a report of a stolen trailer was received by the RCMP. The trailer was locked but the lock was smashed off by the suspects.

Another report of a stolen trailer was received by the RCMP on May 25 at 1:30 p.m. at the Easyford area. A horse trailer belonging to a man was recovered by the Evansburg

RCMP, but items inside the trailer including tools and saddle were gone.

A maroon 2006 Ford F350 was stolen on 47 Avenue in town. The truck has three deer stickers at the back window.

GAS AND DASH

On May 24 at 4 p.m., RCMP received a call from a local gas station of an individual filling up $82 worth of fuel and driving away. The case is still under investigation.

INTERNET SCAM

An individual was scammed online through an Internet romantic scam. A significant amount of money was lost due to this. RCMP reminds the public to be careful when sending money. RCMP is also available for advice when anyone is in doubt.

BREAK AND ENTERS

Numerous break and enters in different businesses happened on May 23 mainly on 51 Street and 51 Avenue in town. There were reports of some items including cash box money being stolen.

Enhancements to Compassionate Care Benefits

Jim Egliniski, Member of Parliament for Yellowhead, on behalf of the Honourable Pierre Poilievre, Minister of Employment and Social Development, today highlighted increased financial support proposed for individuals taking care of family members facing a significant risk of death.

Compassionate care benefits, which are provided through the Employment Insurance (EI) program, are available to individuals temporarily away from work to care for a sick family member with a significant risk of death. Effective January 3, 2016, the proposed enhanced benefit will allow claimants to collect up to 26 weeks of benefits, up from the current 8 weeks. The benefits can also be taken within an expanded period of 52 weeks (up from 26 weeks) and can be shared between family members.

The enhancements being made to compassionate care benefits through Economic Action Plan (EAP) 2015 reaffirm the Government's commitment to helping families receive the support they need as they care for loved ones at end-of-life across Canada and in Yellowhead.

Today's announcement is one example of what the Government is doing, to help Canadians. To help hard-working families, the Government is also enhancing the Universal Child Care Benefit, introducing the Family Tax Cut and making improvements to the Child Care Expenses Deduction and the Children's Fitness Tax Credit. Quick Facts: •EAP 2015 proposes to invest up to an additional $37 million annually to extend the duration of compassionate care benefits from the current six weeks to six months, as of January 2016.

Jim Egliniski
MP - Yellowhead

Through this enhancement, the Government is ensuring that the EI program continues to help Canadians when they need it most. •Since March 24, 2013, the Helping Families in Need Act has allowed parents to suspend the payment of their EI parental benefits if they become ill or are injured, and collect EI sickness benefits. They may resume collecting the balance of their parental benefits thereafter, if needed. •The Universal Child Care Benefit would increase from $100 to $166 per month (totaling up to $1,992 per year) for children under the age of 6, and parents would receive a new benefit of $60 per month (up to $720 per year) for each child aged 6 through 17.

•Under EAP 2014, the Government allowed additional flexibility to claimants in receipt of EI compassionate care benefits or EI benefits for parents of critically ill children (PCIC) to convert to EI sickness benefits if they become ill or are injured, and to resume collecting the balance of their parental benefits thereafter, if needed.

WRSD teacher receives prestigious award

Story submitted

Wild Rose School Division is proud to announce that Mr. Matt Nielsen has received the Zone 4 Edwin Parr Beginning Teacher Award. Mr. Nielsen received this prestigious award last night at the Alberta School Boards Association gala dinner in Lacombe. This award recognizes the work of outstanding first year teachers in Alberta who provide quality teaching and exemplary work in their profession.

Mr. Nielsen was one of eight first year teachers who were nominated for this award from the Central Alberta school divisions that compose Zone Four. He received this award because of his exceptional ability in the areas of planning, lesson preparation, presentation, classroom management and involvement in school activities. "I was very honoured to even be considered for this reward, let alone to be chosen to receive it," stated Drayton Christian School Teacher, Matt Nielsen. "Receiving an award like this is a truly humbling experience that really affirms a sense of personal calling for me. I am honoured just to work with young people and to daily strive to be an intentional, positive influence in their lives." From the initial interview there was a sense that Matt was special and would be a very good fit in the Division," stated Superintendent, Brian Celli. "His ability to see the impact teaching can have on all of his students and his drive to ensure all of his students are successful and looked after makes him a truly remarkable individual and teacher." Mr. Nielsen is currently in his first year teaching at Drayton Christian School in Drayton Valley. Mr. Nielsen his wife, Melanie and their 3 children moved to Drayton Valley from Abbotsford British Columbia for the start of the 2014-2015 school year. Daily, he can be found investing everything he has in the school community as he works diligently to ensure all of his students have their learning needs met. The passion for learning and ethic of care he demonstrates daily in his actions allows him to inspire the students and staff he works with. "Having Matt in our school is an incredible honour and helps not only our students but also our staff," stated Drayton Christian School Principal, Lisa Gidding. "His ability to see everyone at their best allows him to work with everyone he comes into contact with and help everyone here at DCS be successful. He always demonstrates an exemplary ability to create a learning community that has students highly motivated and engaged in their own learning and growth and because of this I know that he is a worthy recipient of this award." The Edwin Parr Award is given out to first year teachers in Alberta who go above and beyond in their work as a teacher. It was created in 1964 has always represented quality teaching and exemplary work.

Take precautions for agricultural, animal-handling activities

Story submitted

RED DEER - As agricultural and animal-handling activities pick up around the province, Alberta Health Services (AHS) is encouraging all Albertans to take precautions - and make them part of their routines - to protect from diseases (such as E. coli, salmonella and campylobacter) that can easily be transmitted from animals to humans.

Wash hands, thoroughly and often.

To reduce risk of transmission of disease from animals to humans (which is most often spread through animal feces), be sure you and your family always wash your hands:

After touching animals (whether outdoors, at home, at petting zoos, agricultural fairs, farmers markets or pet stores).

Before and after eating, preparing food, switching tasks, taking a break, or using the washroom.

After working with soil.

After working with animals or animal equipment.

After removing protective gear and gloves.

If eyes are splashed with animal fluids, rinse eyes immediately and thoroughly.

Handle unprocessed animal products wisely.

Unprocessed animal products - such as eggs, wool and manure - may also pose risk of illness.

If handling these unprocessed products, always:

Wash hands thoroughly.

Wash eggs before consumption.

Follow routine, safe food-handling and preparation practices with unprocessed animal products, just as you would with any other food products.

Wear the gear.

A "do-it-all" gear is generally not "all-purpose." When working outdoors, with animals or in agriculture, wearing the right gear and using it properly can greatly reduce your risk of illness.

When working with animals, always wear sturdy, steel-toed footwear.

Good-fitting light leather gloves are also useful for tasks that do not involve chemicals or other hazardous materials, as they protect your hands from cuts and scratches.

Remove and store all work clothes, dirty boots, gloves and other gear outside of the house.

Wash hands after removing gear and gloves.

Always wash work gear (including any gear contaminated with soil or manure) in a separate load, using hot water and bleach.

Seek help:

If you develop health concerns after being exposed to animals and/or unprocessed animal products, and/or work in agriculture, visit your family doctor and be sure to mention the animal and/or agriculture exposures.

Are you covered for medical emergencies in other provinces?

News Canada

Many Canadians will venture outside their home province to visit other parts of the country this summer - and while insurance is seen as a must-have for international travel, it is often overlooked for shorter trips.

But make no mistake. No matter whether you're going to P.E.I. on a golf holiday, visiting family in B.C., or taking a quick trip to a neighbouring province, it is important to be prepared and protected for emergencies.

BSA, a leading insurer in Canada, offers some helpful reminders before you leave home.

Get the right coverage: Your provincial health insurance plan won't necessarily provide all the out-of-province coverage you might need should something unfortunate happen while you're away. While the cost of visiting a public hospital and seeing doctors would generally be covered by provincial health plans, many out-of-pocket medical expenses are not. Travel medical insurance can help cover emergency medical costs and incidental expenses that are not included under your provincial plan, including extra costs that may be needed to get you home.

Check with the appropriate government agency for what your provincial or territorial medical insurance covers when you are travelling within Canada, and supplement it with additional coverage as necessary.

You may also benefit from having trip cancellation and interruption insurance. Without it, a flight cancellation or an unexpected return home for an emergency in the middle of your trip could be costly.

Carry the right documents: Pack light, but be sure to take important information such as identification, your provincial health insurance card, and your travel insurance wallet card, which contains a number for 24/7 assistance should you ever need it. Take a list of emergency contact information of family or friends. Find a policy that suits your needs: If you travel more than once or twice during the year, look into a multi-trip annual travel insurance plan.

Multi-trip plans can provide coverage for every trip you take, and save you the cost and hassle of shopping for and buying a single trip policy every time. Understand your policy: Whatever the destination, take some time before you travel to read over your insurance policy so that you understand the coverage it provides and what to do if you have a claim. If you have questions, talk to an experienced travel insurance expert for guidance.

St. Anthony School students, parents, and staff members shave locks for cancer

Justine Klimden
Western Review

St. Anthony School is bringing back its bi-annual Shave to Save to raise money for cancer with all proceeds going to the Drayton Valley Cancer Centre.

Kerrie-Ann Lemermeier, Shave to Save coordinator and St. Anthony School administrative secretary, said she decided to bring Shave to Save to town after her mother suffered and died from cancer.

"I had always wanted to do something when my mom had, and later passed away from cancer. I remembered having to drive my mom for her treatments to the city and back home," she said. "The excruciating pain my mom was in on the way home from her treatments was terrible. The two-hour drive seemed to take forever."

Lemermeier then contacted the Alberta Cancer Foundation to find out what she could do to help raise money for cancer. All of the money raised from Shave to Save never left the community of Drayton Valley.

"I knew that the Drayton Valley Cancer Centre needed money for more equipment, supplies, doctors, and to expand the centre to be able to treat more types of cancer locally," she said. "I researched a way to make sure all of the money raised would go to the Drayton Valley Cancer Centre. This was very important to me as I knew that if we could treat more types of cancer locally then patients would not have to have the two-hour drive home and would be in the comfort of home sooner with the help of the Alberta Cancer Foundation. I figured out what I needed to do to start a fundraiser."

Students and staff members at St. Anthony School all came together to make Shave to Save a success every two years.

"I have challenged staff and students that if they raise at least $10,000, I will once again shave off my locks," Lemermeier said. "To date, this bi-annual event which started in 2009 has raised over $42,000 for the Drayton Valley Cancer Centre."

On June 23, Lemermeier will be shaving her hair together with students, parents, and other staff members.

"I, students, staff, and parents as long as they have raised at least $200 in pledges (will be shaving our hair)," she said. "Hair donations will be going to a place in British Columbia that will take the donated hair and make specialty wigs that are free of charge for Canadian children up to age 19 who have lost their hair due to cancer treatments. What is even more exciting is those that donate their hair will receive letters from the children who get the wig made with their hair, if they are in good enough health to do so."

Lemermeier said it is important for the Drayton Valley community to come together and support this fundraiser event.

"It is extremely important as it helps those in our community who are facing cancer today and honour those individuals we have lost to cancer, and (to those) who may unfortunately have to deal with this horrible disease in future generations," she said.

Anyone interested in making a donation can go to <http://albertacancer.ca/shave-to-save2015>, call St. Anthony School at (780) 542-4386, or e-mail kerrie.lemermeier@starcatholic.ab.ca. Deadline for donations is on June 19.

Public Members Audit Committee

The Board of Trustees of Grande Yellowhead Public School Division No. 77 is requesting applications from members of the public to two (2) positions on the school division's Audit Committee as public members.

The Division's Audit Committee is comprised of two elected school trustees, two public members, the Assistant Superintendent - Business Services, and the Superintendent of Schools (in office). Under the new Education Act (unopposed), the board is responsible to hire or elect one member of the business community and one member of the adult learning community.

Duties under the new Education Act are:
1. Recommend internal audits to the board.
2. Review the annual financial statements and report to the board, and
3. Advise to other officers on the board they determine in the establishment of the audit committee.

The opportunity will allow our public members to share their valuable experience in the financial oversight of an organization with over 800 employees at 19 schools and 8 non-school sites and an annual budget of over $40 million. Public Members will be appointed for a four year term and be compensated for their time and associated expenses related to their duties as members of the committee.

The Board of Trustees will accept applications from eligible candidates for trustees for Grande Yellowhead Public School Division No. 77, in addition to being a representative of the business community or the adult learning community.

If you are interested in serving on the Audit Committee please submit a letter of interest, which includes a brief summary of your work and volunteer experience, and qualifications to:

Big West Rodeo held

Story submitted

The Big West High School Rodeo Club has put together a rodeo in Drayton Valley for the past 18 years. This year the rodeo was held at the Lindale rodeo grounds located beside the Lindale Community Hall. The membership periodically goes through changes as kids graduate and move on to college. The BWHSR is sanctioned by the Alberta High School Rodeo Association under District 2.

The participants range from grades nine through twelve and come from all over central Alberta. Currently, the northernmost participant travels from the Whitecourt area and the southernmost from Duchesne. There are approximately 110 members in District 2 alone and they compete in a combination of events which include barrel racing, pole bending, goat tying, bar, cowboy roping, cutting, tie down roping, steer wrestling, team roping, saddle bronc, bareback and bull riding. Points are accumulated over ten rodeos leading up to the Provincial Finals, from there the top contestants head to Rock Springs, Wyoming for the International Finals, then return home to compete in the National Finals.

The rodeo grounds, which were built by the Lindale Roping Club thirty three years ago, were revitalized by the Brazeau Junior Rodeo Association four years ago and recently both clubs repaired and renovated the grounds to host a complete rodeo for the AHSSRA.

The weather was beautiful and the participants and their families had a great time. Recent average winners for the two days were barrels, Rylee Shields of Cochrane; goat tying, a tie between Cassidy Clark of Thorshy and Nikki Vanderveer of Stettler; tie down roping, Kaden Knapp of Mayerthorpe; steer wrestling, Troy Purdie of Red Deer; breakaway, Taylor Schmidt of Barhead; team roping, Travis Spoor of Blue Ridge & Trey Purdie; pole bending, Kashley Seitz of High River; bareback, Jake Piotts of Drayton Valley; saddle bronc, Logan Elder of Hanna; bull riding, no qualified riders. High point awards were given to Taylor Schmidt and Trey Purdie.

This year we were honored to feature an award given in memory of long time member and rodeo moon Susan Hines called the Cowboy Spirit Award which was presented to Walker Guthrie of Ponoka by Susan's son Cory. The BWHSR is a non profit society which relies on an amazing group of generous sponsors some of which have supported the rodeo for many years, without them and our wonderful volunteers the rodeo would not be possible.

Registrations now open for Athletes in Action Soccer Camp

Western Review

The Athletes in Action Soccer Development Camp is coming to Drayton Valley for the first time. The camp is run by Athletes in Action and is being organized by the Drayton Valley Church of God. It will run from August 17 to 21 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Eldorado School playground.

This is the first year that it is being run in Drayton Valley, but it has been a longstanding camp program in British Columbia, Alberta, and Ontario," said camp organizer Ben Anderson. "There have been camps close by like in Whitecourt and Edmonton. However, there has never been a camp here in Drayton Valley before and we believe that these children are missing out on a week of great fun that will cause them to grow up as better people and better players. Over the years, Athletes in Action soccer camps have been very successful in communities across Alberta such as Whitecourt, Coaldale, and Air-drie, to name just a few."

The camp is open to children aged six to 12. Children enrolled in the camp will learn and develop soccer skills including dribbling and shooting.

"We believe that sports is one of the best ways to reach children and have them grow in character and in soccer so we are bringing a camp to Drayton Valley," Anderson said. "Over the course of a day, children will learn how to properly warm up, do some basic ball touches, and to make it fun, some cool tricks with the ball that they can practice. They can then practice these basic skills with a fun game. After that they will learn how to properly execute a basic soccer skill such as passing, shooting, dribbling, and ball control and then learn some fun drills that emphasize these basic skills."

The camp also helps children to grow socially, mentally, physically, emotionally, and spiritually.

"At Coach's Corner, there will be a 10-minute gospel presentation where they can learn good character traits presented in the Bible such as honesty, integrity, identity, and more," Anderson said.

Fun, games, and friendly competitions are also included in the camp's agenda.

"After lunch, the 'work' is over and children compete in juggling competitions and small games for the rest of the game where teamwork and sportsmanship is emphasized," Anderson said. "On Friday, however, the children compete for a world cup trophy and bragging rights in small-sided games that parents are encouraged to come and watch."

Parents who are interested in registering their children for the camp can do so by e-mailing bananderson@shaw.ca or calling (780)241-0145. Registration fee is $100. There are limited space available.

"Children should register for this camp because it is a camp filled with fun, competition, and great coaches," Anderson said. "Parents should sign their children up because it can grow their child physically, socially, emotionally, and spiritually."

Pole bending – a slalom for horses and riders

Polebending was one of several events held at Lindale this past weekend as the Big West Rodeo Club hosted a rodeo on May 23 and 24.

For the past 18 years, this event has been held in Drayton Valley, but since two recreational clubs joined forces to update the rodeo grounds near Lindale, the organizing committee decided to hold it here instead. Participants ranged in age from Grade 9 to Grade 12.

School Notebook

Can you believe it's June already? Staff and students are enjoying the big year-end push. This month will be chock full of testing, field trips and final activities to wrap up the school year. I am going to get hungry, scary but very exciting.

Mr. Heit's chess had a bit of a twist Tuesday. They were all treated to an hour long live action for their hard work and dedication for this year's final Good Job kids.

What's Going On? June 5 P.D. No School June 6 Grade 4-5 Track and Field

June 12 44 Truck and Field Fun day June 12 Spirit Day, Crazy, Mixed Up and Scared

Grade Five Gang! Are we ever excited? Grade Five Grasper will return from camp on Wednesday, June 3 at about 2:30 and Grade Five Hides Payno Waltz will be leaving for camp on the same day, at 9 AM. Keep your fingers crossed for continued camp-like wows!

A great big THANK YOU to Home Hardware for the donation of the beautiful flowers for our 100 parents. They are given a token and ring to be used to help us to get to the next step, and give the flowers. Don't forget to see what else we have.

Evergreen grade two classes have been busy taking part in pond walks, where we have collected frog eggs, tadpoles, and water beetles!

Additionally, we were lucky enough to enjoy learning about worms from a very very special guest, Mrs. Smith. She has been wrapping up their Classroom Champion program with special class visits with Olympia.

It was a very busy week for our Grade 7 & 8 students. Grade 8 students were on a retreat @ YoYoChia Monday, Tuesday Grade 7's were on retreat @ Camp Warms on Friday and then the Grade 7 & 8 students participated in the Awake-A thon from Friday morning till Saturday morning.

Grade 6 PA's are: June 17th English - Part 3 18th Math 19th Science & 22nd Social Studies to Save 2015 is quickly approaching. We need to raise $10,000 for Mrs. Lemmeyer to share her long look! The Alberta Cancer Foundation will award a prize to the student who collects the most to pledge! Any support you can provide would be sincerely appreciated and all donations should be made by June 15th or more are tax deductible. To make a donation on line please visit: www.albertacancer.ca/donationsave2015 or contact St. Anthony's School 780-542-4396 or kenneth.lemmeyer@stanthony.ca.

Reminder to students and parents that there will be no school this Friday, June 5th. Parents please watch for the final exam schedule to be sent home with your child test week. All information about the dates and times of the final exams will be included. All library books are to be handed in to the library by Wednesday, June 3rd at the latest. If you have an all of your library books handed in by this date, then your class will be rewarded with a big for all their work. Please help our Mrs. Hook and get these library books in as soon as possible.

Friday, June 12th FWP will be having their annual summer carnival. Please make sure to bring your picnic attire for the event. Our home news report will be on June 16th. Fix your digestive discomfort for better overall health

Although not your typical water cooler conversation or discussion during a girl's night out, a recent national survey reveals digestive health problems are a pervasive issue in Canada, disrupting many of our lives.

According to the survey of 1,500 adult Canadians (conducted by Vision Critical on behalf of Jamieson Digestive Care), in the past year, 21 per cent of respondents said they had to decline, cancel or reschedule an activity because of diarrhea, gas, bloating or constipation.

Seniors enjoy the coffee and camaraderie at the Drayton Valley 55 Plus Club

Cathy Weetman
Western Review

Drayton Valley Seniors are a social group of residents. All one has to do is show up at the Drayton Valley 55 Plus Centre just off Main Street at eight in the morning on any given weekday and there will be a pot of coffee waiting and men with cues ready to play a nice game of pool. In another room, a group of women are having coffee and sharing the latest news around town. If they're not there, they're probably working at the hospital auxiliary.

Senior Phillip Vatter has been coming to the centre for about 10 years. After it changed locations from where the Clinton restaurant was to where it is now, in a former restaurant called The Cactus, there was a bar and lounge upstairs and a restaurant downstairs. We renovated and now floor curling is upstairs and the pool table is downstairs. It's just the ideal building to hold tournaments and all kinds of stuff, and we always have one or two pool sharks willing to play," said Vatter.

When asked why he likes the centre so much, Vatter replied, "Why? Because I have a lot of spare time and also for the camaraderie." Dave Lundberg is another senior who visits the centre on a regular basis. He's lived in Drayton Valley for some 60 years.

"I don't come for the pool - I come for the camaraderie. Phil makes a pot of coffee every morning and a dozen guys come here at eight in the morning, and we play until about 10:30. We have to put a dollar in the for coffee and a dollar for pool," said Lundberg, adding that sometimes the ladies will join the men for a game of pool.

Like the men, the ladies come for socialization and to play cards twice a week and floor curling, also twice a week. When they're not busy with that, they can be found helping out at the monthly pancake breakfast, attending the monthly music jam and getting themselves ready to serve breakfast for the entire town on July 1, Canada Day.

"Last year we had over 400 people through the centre in two hours," said Schwabe.

The group of ladies will also be attending the town-hosted seniors tea at the Legion, while the men said they were still waiting for their wives to tell them about it.

Teach your kids why they should stay away from ticks

The heat is on. Summer camp and outdoor field trips are just around the corner. As you prepare your kids for the great outdoors with sunscreen and insect repellent, don't forget to talk to your kids about the causes of Lyme disease.

Lyme disease is an illness caused by the bite of an infected blacklegged tick. Their usual hangouts include tall grass and bushes in forests and the overgrown areas between the woods and open spaces. The best way to protect against Lyme disease is to prevent tick bites. Before your kids venture into the woods this summer, talk to them about these key points:

1. Ticks are tiny: The ticks that transmit Lyme disease are very small - some are about the size of a poppy seed. 2. Clothing: While it may be difficult to do when it's hot, kids should cover exposed skin. 3. Safe zones: If your child's outdoor activity involves walking on trails, tell them to avoid taking short cuts through thick brush and grass. Sticking to the middle of the trail will help reduce the chances that a tick could climb onto them. 5. Tick Check: Show your kids how to conduct body checks for ticks following outdoor activities. Ticks love to attach around moist areas of the body, like in the belly button, armpits, behind knees, groin, between toes and in the hairline. Taking a shower will also help wash away loose ticks before they attach. 6. Removing ticks: If your child gets a tick on them, encourage them to ask an adult to help remove it properly. Ticks are most effectively removed with a pair of tweezers. These simple tips will ensure that your kids come home from their summer adventures with great memories, not illness. More information on Lyme disease plus ways to protect yourself, your children and your pets, visit Canada.ca/LymeDisease. www.newscanada.com

Add plenty of omega-3 fat if you have an active lifestyle

For nine years as a runner, I figured running earned me the reward of whatever food I felt I deserved. I also struggled a lot. Eventually I got fed up with low energy levels, subpar performance and constant injuries.

As a nutritionist, I chose to address these problems by transitioning to my newly developed Eat 2 Run lifestyle. Within one month I had so much energy I began running daily. Within four months I took more than 25 minutes off my marathon time. And four years later I remain injury free. One key nutrient I began consuming daily, while building a strong foundation full of anti-inflammatory and antioxidant rich foods, was omega-3 fatty acids. Omega-3s are well known for their role in heart and brain health. But they can also help athletes to recover faster, leading to increased performance.

Their benefits have been demonstrated in many studies. For example, a 2014 review concluded that omega-3s are effective in decreasing post-exercise muscle soreness. And a 2013 report identified the mechanisms behind the anti-inflammatory effect of omega-3s. Today I recommend to clients and don't let a day go by without consuming omega-3s such as wild salmon and hemp hearts - and I always add a top-quality supplement like Nordic Naturals omega-3s. This proactivity for my fitness and health helps to boost energy levels, avoid injury and recover faster. Further information is available at www.nordicnaturals.ca and eat2run.com. Sarah J. Get dad on track with his health this Father's Day

While a new tie, a round of golf, or a pair of game tickets may be well-received on Father's Day, the most generous gift may be one that helps your dad to take stock of his health and well-being. This year, make the special man in your life feel loved and appreciated - and that means making sure he is around for many more to come.

Here's how to guide him:

- Eat well: It's important to make healthy choices and consume a well-balanced diet each day consisting of whole grains, vegetables, fruit, milk and alternatives, protein, and healthy fats to provide the body with the energy, vitamins and minerals it requires.
- Get active: According to the Canadian Physical Activity Guidelines, being active for at least 150 minutes per week can help reduce the risks of heart disease, stroke, high blood pressure, type 2 diabetes, osteoporosis, obesity, premature death and certain types of cancer. Exercise also promotes improved fitness, strength and mental health.

• Laugh more: Research shows laughter is a great medicine. Humour produces psychological and physiological effects on the body that are similar to the health benefits of aerobic exercise.

• Get checked: Though many men tend to avoid regular checkups and tests to screen for health issues and flag anything that could be cause for concern. If his strength and muscle tone have decreased, or he's not himself lately (irritable mood, lack of concentration, low energy and more) it is important to investigate. These symptoms can be attributed to several conditions, including a thyroid condition or depression. In some cases, the culprit is hypogonadism, also known as low testosterone. This condition is estimated to affect more than 25 per cent of men in Canada over the age of 40, and can lead to symptoms such as reduced sex drive, decreased energy, body changes, mood changes, and sexual dysfunction. If someone is experiencing symptoms out of the ordinary, it's important to speak with a doctor.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: What does friendship mean to you?

Karyssa Broli 12

It means responsibility and it means that someone accepts you for who you are and you can be who you want to be around them.

Emma Matsalla 11

Someone who comes by your side and never left. You can be yourself and you can hang out and tell your secrets. You can trust them.

Robbie Richert 11

It means you can borrow stuff from them and they would not mind and also you can be yourself around them and you can go to their house sometimes.

Under warm, sunny skies, residents of Drayton Valley had an opportunity to drive some beautiful new vehicles and donate toward the CT scanner at the same time on May 23 as Drayton Valley Ford held another Drive 4UR Commu-

For each test drive, which took about 20 minutes, $20 per drive went toward the scanner. Most residents pre-registered, but others also registered in person at the event, which was held from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Colleen Sekurs, Fund Development Officer for the Drayton Valley Health

Services Foundation, and Drayton Valley Mayor Glenn McLean, started off with a black Mustang and dark coloured Edge and later switched so that Sekura and her staff drove a convertible mustang while McLean drove the black Mustang. McLean said while he liked the Edge, he preferred the Mustang.

Also during the event, attendees chowed down on hamburgers and hot dogs for a donation, and a treasure hunt for a Toonie also brought in some money.

Colleen Sekura, Fund Development Officer for the Drayton Valley Health Services Foundation, is about to venture out on the road in a brand new Ford vehicle. She tried out a few of them during the day, including a Mustang convertible.

ROLE SUMMARY:
As the Building Maintenance Person you will be expected to carry out daily operational activities. This may include general maintenance and small repairs for plumbing, HVAC, mechanical, electrical, security system maintenance and repairs, framing, sheet metal work and other general maintenance for several industrial/residential buildings. In this position you will be working directly with Tenants on a daily basis in order to ensure that they are receiving the best possible service.

KEY RESPONSIBILITIES:

- Provide support to Management through diligent and quality workmanship of various hands on construction tasks that include carpentry, trim work, window repairs, deficiency corrections and other miscellaneous construction.
- Ensure high standards of workmanship and efficiency.
- Assist with the maintenance of effective verbal communications and progress reporting with sub-trades and Tenants.
- Supportive supervision of on-site subtrades, providing direction to site workers.
- Ensure compliance with health and safety training and reporting requirements.
- Travel to multiple job sites will be required.
- Ensure company vehicle and tools provided are maintained in a safe operational condition and the security of the vehicle and its contents remain a top priority.

QUALIFICATIONS:

- Journeyman Carpenter or equivalent qualifications.
- 5+ years experience as a construction worker.
- Ability to read blueprints, schematics, field drawings and plans.
- A solid understanding of all construction trades and construction techniques.
- Knowledge of local, provincial and federal workplace compliance regulations, ordinances and legislation.
- First Aid skills and/or certificates are considered assets.
- WHMIS, Fall Arrest, Elevated Lift and other typical safety certifications.
- Valid driver's license with clean driving record.
- Physically fit and able to lift up to 50 lb.

Personal Attributes:

- Exceptional attention to detail.
- Strong time management/organizational skills.
- Ability to work independently in a busy environment.
- Able to effectively communicate both verbally and in writing.
- Able to work well under pressure.
- Able to deal with people tactfully, diplomatically, and professionally at all times.
- High level of sound and independent judgment and reasoning.

We're Offering:

- Health and Dental Benefit Plans.
- Very competitive wages that will be based on qualifications.
- A company truck will be provided.

If you are self-motivated and are looking for an opportunity to expand your career in a dynamic and enthusiastic environment, you are invited to submit your resume to:

contact@ferreygroup.com

We thank you in advance for your application, however, only those who best match the qualifications will be contacted for an interview.

Homes

Dear Working Wife:

My painting company is growing and so I'm considering hiring you to work with me this summer. Are there any issues with hiring a 15-year-old to paint houses?

Signed Concerned Contractor

Dear Concerned Contractor:

Young workers are covered by the same employment standards, e.g. holiday pay and minimum wage, as other workers, but there are some special rules employers should know when it comes to employing people under the age of 18.

The restrictions for young workers involve hours of work and supervision. To learn more, visit <http://work.alberta.ca> and click on the Employees Under Age 18 fact sheet or call the Alberta Employment Standards helpline at 1-877-427-3711.

There are no Employment Standards against hiring a 15-year-old to paint houses - young workers, aged 15-17, can work in any type of job (other than serving alcohol).

Retail store, gas station and hotel employees aged 15-17 will be in the continuous presence of an adult if they are working between 9 p.m. and midnight. And, they are not allowed to work at all between midnight and 6 a.m.

Young workers employed outside those industries may work between midnight and 6 a.m. only if their parent gives written consent and they are under the continuous supervision of at least one adult.

Adolescent Albertans, aged 12-14, can work in the following approved jobs:

- office messenger or clerk;

- delivery person (e.g. flyers, flowers);

- retail store clerk (e.g. music store); and

- certain jobs in the restaurant and food-service industry, with restrictions.

Adolescents may host/babysit, wash dishes, bus tables, wait tables, provide customer service, assemble orders and clean. But, they can not accept work that may harm their life, health, education or welfare. For these reasons, adolescents can not:

- sell liquor in licensed premises;

- work between 9 p.m. and 6 a.m.;

- work during normal school hours;

- work without continuous adult supervision;

- work for longer than two hours on a school day;

- work for longer than eight hours on a non-school day; or

- use or work near dangerous equipment such as deep fryers, grills or slicers.

Do you have a work-related question? Send your questions to WorkingWife@charlesstrachey.ca. Charles Strachey is a manager with Alberta Human Services. This column is provided for general information.

Adolescents may be able to take on other jobs, but the employer must first apply for a Permit to Employ an Adolescent through <http://work.alberta.ca>.

Employers and parents are responsible for ensuring that adolescents are competent and safe. Parents must give the employer written consent before employment begins.

Employers are required by the Occupational Health and Safety (OHS) Code to keep young workers safe by:

- completing a written hazard assessment;

- controlling or eliminating all safety hazards;

- ensuring the health and safety of the employee; and

- warning the adolescent about any hazards that may affect him or her.

For tips on keeping younger workers safe at work, visit <http://work.alberta.ca/ohs> and click on Young Workers.

Good luck!
